

JOHN CENTER BAGPIPE MAKER

www.schoolofpiping.com

John Center originally from Kildrummy, Aberdeenshire is believed to have started his business as a bagpipe and reed maker in around 1870 and was based in Edinburgh. His occupation was also listed as a Photographer around that time.

John Center Bagpipe Maker and Photographer

His son James, one of nine children, was a pupil of John MacDougall-Gillies and was known as a champion dancer and piper. He won the Gold Medal at the Northern Meeting in 1902, the clasp in 1904 and the Gold medal at the Argyllshire Gathering in 1906. James joined his father in the family business as bagpipe makers and then emigrated to Melbourne, Australia in 1908 and continued to make bagpipes from their premises at 135 Tinning Street, West Brunswick.

James Center champion piper (c.1910)

John passed away in 1913 and James died during the Spanish influenza pandemic in 1919. Their workshop in Grove Street Edinburgh was taken over by James Robertson. Center bagpipes were highly sought after. The set pictured is believed to be one of a pair made to display at the World Fair before Center left Edinburgh.

As you can see, the silver work is of the finest quality and more excessive than normally found even on top range instruments. The engraving is a very fine zoomorphic pattern and the slides are very tastefully left plain. The carving of the wood is extremely unusual and not often seen.

Chanter bulb with makers stamp

Chanter Sole

Ornate carving on all timber

Lower drone sections

Projecting mount

Mouthpiece

Instrument photographs have been kindly supplied by Mark Saul.

SAUL
BAGPIPE TUNER

Big easy to read display

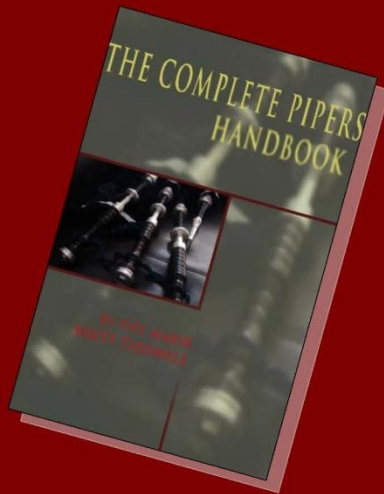

Unrivalled accurately

Unique capabilities using sensor technology

The ultimate tuning and learning tool

www.saultuner.com

Similar articles can be found at www.schoolofpiping.com along with product reviews, photo albums, sound files, historical material and educational material for pipers at every level.

The Complete Pipers Handbook

is a must for every serious piper. Never before has a more comprehensive guide been published. Maintenance, set up, refinement, tuning, setting up bands, performance psychology and much more!

Available from:

www.schoolofpiping.com

and selected stockists.